Excerpt from The Medical Institutions of Glasgow: A Handbook Prepared for the Annual Meeting of the British Medical Association Held in Glasgow, August, 1888. At a meeting of the Local Committee, held at the close of February last, the question as to printing a Guide Book to Glasgow and the surrounding neighbourhood was discussed and it was finally resolved that, as a number of Guide Books would be published in connection with the International Exhibition, it would be preferable to publish a Handbook of The Medical Institutions of Glasgow. Dr. Joseph Coats, editor of the Glasgow Medical Journal, agreed to insert the various contributions in that Journal; an editor was appointed, and arrangements for the compilation of the volume were proceeded with. The Editor was fortunate in securing the assistance of Dr. C. Fred. Pollock, whose aid has been invaluable. Possessed of high literary culture, great capacity for work, and the will to perform it, Dr. Pollock has, conjointly with me, carefully revised all the manuscripts and proofs; and, in addition, he has written valuable original articles. It is hoped that the volume may be of service as a souvenir of the meeting of the British Medical Association; and also as a source of trustworthy information regarding The Medical Institutions of Glasgow.
