

Rhetorical Democracy: Discursive Practices of Civic Engagement

This collection presents theoretical, critical, applied, and pedagogical questions and cases of publics and public spheres, examining these contexts as sources and sites of civic engagement. Reflecting the current state of rhetorical theory and research, the contributions arise from the 2002 conference proceedings of the Rhetoric Society of America (RSA). The collected essays bring together rhetoricians of different intellectual stripes in a multi-traditional conversation about rhetorics place in a democracy. In addition to the wide variety of topics presented at the RSA conference, the volume also includes the papers from the Presidents Panel, which addressed the rhetoric surrounding September 11, 2001, and its aftermath. Other topics include the rhetorics of cyberpolitical culture, race, citizenship, globalization, the environment, new media, public memory, and more. This volume makes a singular contribution toward improving the understanding of rhetorics role in civic engagement and public discourse, and will serve scholars and students in rhetoric, political studies, and cultural studies.
